Product description

The Investec Top5 Optimiser is a notice deposit with an interest rate that approximates the average of the top 5 qualifying¹ money market funds' published rates, at Investec's discretion, and provides a choice of notice period options and a liquidity percentage of 10%.

Definitions

- "account balance" means the total capital invested in the account at any given time, and constitutes the balance on which interest is earned
- "breakage costs" means all costs, losses, liabilities, damages, charges or expenses as determined by Investec together with an amount equal to any VAT (if applicable) and any other applicable taxes thereon which Investec incurs or suffers as a result of any early withdrawal from or closure of the account (including, but not limited to, the unwind, termination or modification, in whole or in part, of any funding or hedge position in relation thereto)
- "encumbrance" means a hold placed on funds that have been reserved or have not yet cleared
- "immediately available balance" means the funds that are available immediately in the account without you having to place notice, subject to notices placed and/or encumbrances. It is determined by the liquidity percentage, and is recalculated after each transaction, subject to any withdrawals already made within the applicable notice period
- "liquidity percentage" means the percentage of the account balance used to calculate the maximum immediately available balance. This percentage is 10%
- "notice balance" means funds that are available for notice to be placed (including the immediately available balance), subject to any encumbrances and/or notices placed
- "notice due date" means the date on which a notice instruction matures and the credit to the settlement account is processed
- "notice maturity date" means the end of the notice period and the date on which funds under notice become available
- "notice period" means the agreed/committed term after giving notice withdrawal instructions for all, or a portion of, the funds to become available
- "notice placed" means that there is a pending notice withdrawal instruction to withdraw either all, or a portion of, the account balance
- "notice withdrawal instruction" means providing Investec with notice of your intent to withdraw funds
- "settlement account" means the account to which all withdrawals will be paid into
- "Top5 Optimiser rate" means an interest rate which approximates the performance of the average of the top 5 qualifying money market funds' published rates
- "variance limit" means a limit of no less than 0.25% above or below the average interest rate of all the qualifying¹ money market funds
- "volatility event" means an event where the observed interest rate within a fund on any given day is 0.25% above or below the funds own prior 10 day average rate where there has not been a commensurate interest rate change in the published South African interest rates

General

The Investec Top5 Optimiser combines the following benefits:

- A competitive money market fund linked interest rate
- Notice period: 45 or 90 days
- Liquidity percentage – you have 10% instant access on cleared funds (45 or 90 days' notice is required to withdraw amounts in excess of the liquidity percentage)
- The liquidity percentage available is based on a cycle related to your notice period, following your last withdrawal of the immediately available balance
- If you don't already have an Investec Call Account, one will be opened automatically at inception of the account, as each notice withdrawal instruction will require details of a settlement account. Should you not specify a different settlement account, funds withdrawn will automatically be transferred into your Investec Call Account

Interest rates

- The interest rate is tiered and is calculated on the account balance, considering the notice period selected
- The interest rate applicable to the Investec Top5 Optimiser is money market linked and is calculated on the average of the top 5 performing money market funds selected from a basket of qualifying¹ money market funds, subject to the variance limit
