Performance Information

- This product will allow you to buy USD at a known protected rate. Depending on the prevailing market rate during the life of the product you may benefit from an improvement on this worst-case rate.
- The value of these USD in GBP terms will be dependent upon the prevailing market rate at maturity.
- The prevailing market rate at maturity could be better, or worse, than the rate agreed in your contract.
- The product performance will fluctuate based on underlying currency exchange rates and the GBP value of the USD you receive back may be less than the GBP notional.
- The product performance is dependent upon the prevailing market rate during the window period, including at maturity.
- In severe adverse market conditions, the GBP value of the USD you receive could fall significantly.
- You must hold the product until maturity. Early termination may be possible at Investec's sole discretion, however there may be reasonable costs and charges applied if early termination is agreed to.
- Scenario 1 - If during the window period, the prevailing market rate has traded at or beyond either the lower or upper limit rate, you will buy the agreed amount of USD at your protected rate.
- Scenario 2 - If at maturity, the prevailing spot market rate is higher than your protected rate and has not traded at or beyond your upper limit rate during the window period, you will benefit from buying at the prevailing market rate.
- Scenario 3 - If at maturity, the prevailing market rate is lower than your protected rate and has not traded at or beyond the lower limit rate during the window period, you will benefit from buying at the bonus rate.

What could affect my return positively?

- A positive outcome would be if your protected rate is higher than the prevailing market rate at maturity.

What could affect my return negatively?

- A negative outcome would be if your protected rate is lower than the prevailing market rate at maturity.

What happens if Investec Bank plc is unable to pay out?

If Investec Bank plc is unable to meet its obligations, for example if it fails or becomes insolvent, it is unlikely that you would be covered by the Financial Services Compensation Scheme.
